CIRCULATE THE DOCUMENTS!

A good work has been done in this State, durng the past six weeks, in disseminating political information among the People. But much remains to be done to render the work complete. the display of poultry at the late State Fair:

Monstrous bens, ambitious roosters and prodigious and precocious chickens seem, by their incessant notices, anxious to unful the secret of their prison houses. There is everything to astenish, and all seem conscious, especially the roosters, that they are of imported and aristocratic descent. Some bare feathers down to the toes, some legs up to the comb, some tail all the vay up the back and some back all the way to the tail, some have nothing but neek and legs, some nothing but body and stumps, some are all eggs and some all feathers. They unite on one point, they are death on corn, and we suspect that in this direction pretty much all the profits are invested. A Sign in Marne. - The election of three Whig

Congressmen in Maine is a good sign for Nov., but the best sign of all is the election of Mr. Washburn in the Penobscot district, by a clear majority, There was a plurality of nearly 1000 against him in 1850. Mr. Washburn is an out and out enthusiastic Scott man. ON HAND AGAIN .- The clipper Sam Hale, Capt-Shorts, arrived on Sanday morning from Buffalo with 1700 barrels of salt and 70 tons merchandize and pig iron, completing her slath trip around

Taylnoto Head off a Lawyer.—Editors someticae meet with a good thing; such, for instance, as the following: A delinquent subscriber, in Fall River, Mass, has manifested, for some time pest, a harowing indifference in regard to the payment of $1.50 due on his subscription; which behave had accordualted before the inauguration of the present administration. Our clerk, being a very sharp boy, determined to collect the "filtibalance," by hook or by crook. Sundry bills and pressing "duns?" were dispatched, without any satisfactory result. Inquiries were at last made as to who this delinquent "scally was," and he turned up a lawyer. "Ah! I have him, now," end the clerk; I will send him his own bill to collect, and see if that won't fetch him." The bill was accordingly sent; and, a few days after the following reply was received:
